From Congress.
Private Secretary Amos L. Allen Making a Canvass for the Seat.

CHANDLER, Mich., Aug. 19.—The speaker Thomas B. Reed has told his constituents to go ahead and make ready for the election of his successor. His private secretary, Amos L. Allen, was a candidate for the Republican nomination from his district. After a long interview with the speaker, Mr. Allen announced that he is in the field to stay. Not only is secretary Allen pushing his canvass, but other friends of the speaker are acting on the understanding, which they say, that they have obtained direct, that no such possibility as that of Mr. Reed holding on to his seat need be entertained.

Members of the Republican district committee and the town committee throughout the district have begun active election work. This expectation is that the resignation will be sent by Mr. Reed to the governor about September 1.

DREYFUS' CASE

The Antis Had Their Tiring In the Trial Today, the Court Calling Some

VERY POSITIVE WITNESSES

The Prisoner Denies One of the Witnesses and Made Him Modify His Testimony

COURT RESUMES NEXT MONDAY

RENNES, France, Aug. 19.—Capitaine Dreyfus, and de camp in the war office, was the first witness before the Dreyfus court-martial today. Chagel was the man who discovered the letter for gory and who also testified before the court of cassation as to the fact that a part of the Foreign Office in tampering with a despatch to incriminate Dreyfus. Notwithstanding this record, Chagel began his testimony with a long speech denouncing Dreyfus. This lasted until Dreyfus raised his hand in protest. The witness showed remarkable familiarity with the spy system of Europe. He referred to the secret agents in letters of the alphabet so his testimony sounded like a proposition in algebra. Chagel claimed there were hundreds of letters incriminating Dreyfus, including the letter from Schuster, the Australian military attaché, whose reputation of the letter attributed to him declaring Dreyfus' dealings with Germany was one of the sensational developments of the trial. Chagel claimed this revelation was forced from Schuster, under duress, "from his testimony witness differed." "I am with before the court of cassation," he said, "drawing all implications from the facts and Henry.

He then was called to the stand. Absence owing to illness was explained to the court, which ordered his deposition taken in Paris. General De Boisdeffre, ex-chief general staff, was the next witness. He is an amiable gentleman well advanced in years. The witness devoted the time in showing Picquart was wrong in the testimony he gave Thursday and yesterday. Like the ex-ministers of war the witness made a solemn but unsupported declaration of the prisoner's guilt. "I am as convinced as before," said Boisdeffre, "that Dreyfus and not Esterhazy wrote the bordereau and that Dreyfus is guilty as charged." General Deneux was the next witness. He told of Dreyfus' alleged confession. He also said he was sure Dreyfus wrote the bordereau. Dreyfus questioned Deneux about the latter's assertions that he (Dreyfus) spied on the war department. He argued it was a physical impossibility for him to have done certain things at the time and place stated. Deneux finally admitted it was not probable Dreyfus had done these things, but insisted it was possible.

The court then adjourned until Monday. The course of today's evidence is regarded as unfavorable to Dreyfus. The antis are increasingly confident of conviction.

LIGHT TENDER FIRED.

He Didn't Quit the Government and Was Discharged.

Deputy U. S. Marshal in New is in receipt of a letter from Inspector Heim, of Memphis, stating that Jas. A. Iry has been appointed keeper of the government light at Wolf Island, to succeed Jim Woodard and his wife. Wolf Island is below Cairo, Ill. Not long since Iry and the King brothers were brought here and tried before Commissioner Puryear on a charge of conspiring to run the keeper of the light, Woodard, away, and the case is still unsettled. Woodard and his family were such foul specimens of humanity, however, that the officials did not blame the defendants, who appeared to be quite respectable, from wanting to run them away, and their removal was recommended, resulting in the appointment of Iry, one of the men who tried to get rid of them.

LOST THE TAX BOOK.

Deputy Sheriff Uterback Met With a Misfortune Yesterday.

Deputy Sheriff R. O. Uterback yesterday afternoon lost the county tax book, or else it was stolen from his buggy. The last he remembered of it he had it under his arm at Tenth and Trimble. A flagman near by reported that he saw a small boy running away with a red book, but the officer could not find it. The tax book was this morning found in Major T. E. Moss' office where it had been left by accident.

Dr. Edwards, eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, Paducah.

SUES THE CITY

Mrs. Glisson Wants $2,000 Damages and an Injunction.

Objects to the Pest House—Other Suits Were Filed Today.

Mrs. Nannie Glisson, through her attorneys, Bishop & Hendrick, this afternoon filed suit in the circuit court against the city of Paducah for $2,000 damages and an injunction restraining the city from longer maintaining its pest house where it is now located, adjacent to her property near the Louisville road.

She alleges that she is the owner of 14 acres of land occupied as a home, and that the small pest house at the pest house is a nuisance and contaminates the entire locality.

Mrs. Glisson is the woman who closed the road leading to the pest house which small pest was present several months ago, and with whom the city had so much trouble.

James Lang, administrator, this afternoon filed suit in the circuit court against B. B. Anderson and others to settle on the estate of the late J. C. Williams.

Mrs. White M. Willis this afternoon filed suit against the Paducah Trust and Loan Association, for $87.88, claimed to have been overcharged and paid by her.

An appeal case from Judge Tully's court was filed in the circuit court. The style of it is due to Stanford against J. E. Hall.

PUBLIC PRINTER.

Mr. Robertson, of the News, is Leth to Step Out.

Yesterday Mr. J. E. Robertson, of the News, elected by the council public printer, accompanied by Attorney T. E. Moss, and J. D. McQuinn, called on Mayor Lang, and Mr. Robertson wanted to know by what authority the mayor had appointed J. E. Robertson, of the News, public printer. He said he had not resigned, and did not propose to be kicked out.

The mayor replied that the law was his authority and that if he could go up and stand at the old name under which Mr. Robertson was elected.

Yesterday the News came out and said: "The charter gives the mayor the right to fill vacancies in certain offices at interim, but nowhere does he have the authority arbitrarily to declare vacant an office. A vacancy can be created by death or resignation, but an officer can only be ousted from an office by due process of law."

Now Mr. Robertson has resigned, and Mr. J. E. Robertson has been appointed in his stead. Mr. J. E. Robertson has established the Daily Leader last Tuesday. Now Mr. Robertson has not resigned, nor has he died, a vacancy cannot be declared, and the office vacant. Why, therefore, does the mayor assume to perform the duties of mayor and council all in one? There may be some investigation of the matter.

This morning Mayor Lang said that Mr. Robertson had become disqualified to hold the office of public printer, and he is neither the publisher nor in manager of a daily paper in Paducah, which the ordinance says the public printer shall be. Mr. Robertson has stock in the News, and is not its publisher and has no manager. If Mr. Robertson is neither publisher nor manager, he has incurred disability to hold the office, and section 44 of the statutes says, relative to the powers of the mayor: "The mayor shall have the power to make pro tempore appointments to fill temporary vacancies occasioned by sickness, absence or other disability of any officer, except councilmen, except councilmen, for misconduct or neglect of duty, reporting his action, with his reasons therefor, in writing, to the next regular meeting of the common council, by whom final action shall be taken."

AFTER 50 YEARS.

Mr. T. Murphy, who lives two and a half miles south of Paducah near the C. & O. railroad, was in the city today with a relic of the late unpleasantness which was quite a curiosity. While showing some days ago he uncovered a three and a half pound grape shot which bore evidence of long burial. He was unable to account for the presence of the shot where he found it, and brought it in the city to exhibit and make some inquiry in the line of solution. Some old citizens were talked with and there was but one conclusion and that was that the shot was fired from one of the fort guns in one of the raids on the city during the war.

There are some people here now who were in the fort and know the character of the shot used in them. Mr. High McMahon, the well known old bricklayer, who was some time a guard at the fort, saw the shot Mr. Murphy had and was sure it was fired from one of the guns, as many such shot were used in them.

LOST DAUGHTER

Mrs. Pigue Here From Ballard County Today.

Her Adopted Daughter Left Home Mysteriously Yesterday Morning.

Mrs. Francis Pigue, of Hazlewood, Ballard county, came in this morning in search of her adopted daughter, Lura Arledge, who left home mysteriously yesterday morning and has not been seen since.

The Pignes own a store at Oscar, Ballard county, and Mrs. Pigue went to the store yesterday, while Mr. Pigue went to town, leaving the girl and another child at the house with a colored woman. The girl is about 14 years old, and about noon she gathered her clothes and some of her mother's and told the colored woman that she was coming to Paducah, because Mrs. Pigue had threatened to whip her if she didn't find some goods, and she had not yet found the goods. The woman attempted to dissuade her from her purpose, but to no avail. She left walking, and that was the last seen of her.

It is thought possible that she left with a man of the neighborhood with whom she was infatuated. She was taken from an orphan's asylum in Louisville by Mrs. Pigue, and it is said her mother formerly resided here, and was Emma Belmont. She always claimed to have a grandmother, Mrs. Sallie Wagner, in the city, but none of these Mrs. Pigue could locate today. She reported the disappearance to the police, who searched in vain for the girl all day.

LABORER'S CONDITION.

It is Reported as Very Favorable Today—Another Suspect.

RENNES, France, Aug. 19.—An other individual who is alleged to have been the man who shot Laborer has been brought to Rennes. He was drunk when arrested. The condition of Laborer today is highly satisfactory. The patient is improving steadily.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19. Renewed dispatches say Laborer's physicians will allow him to attend the Dreyfus court-martial Monday. It is feared that unless his dignity is allowed to argue the trial is rejected by his sufferer.

DESERVILLE, Mich., Aug. 19.—Fifty years ago Alexander Park, then a young man, living with a wife and daughter in Scotland, came alone to America to seek his fortune. Mr. Parker would not leave his wife and daughter, but he has not seen for half a century. He left here Wednesday, and sailed Thursday.

PLAQUE DISAPPEARING.

MUSSELS, Wis., Aug. 19.—The banks here are receiving large deposits from French capitalists because of the financial insecurity in France which must exist until the Dreyfus trial is settled.

TO GO TO MANILA.

WASHINGTON, August 19.—Secretary Root today issued orders directing the Twenty-Seventh, Thirty-first and Thirty-fourth volunteers to proceed to San Francisco immediately. They will sail for Manila when transports are provided.

LINEMAN SHOCKED.

Lineman Patterson, of the Tennessee Telephone company, had a close call this afternoon while at work up on Sixth street. He was packing a coil of wire around his hand, one end of which was attached to a pole. In moving along the wire came in contact with a trolley wire and he was knocked down. He shouted for help and another lineman ran and cut the wire. He was soon all right again.

QUOTA NEARLY FULL.

Only 4,000 More Recruits Remain for Subsequent Call.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—With the ten additional regiments of volunteers, orders for the organization of which were issued today, twenty of the twenty-four regiments authorized by congress as completing the provisional army of 35,000 will be complete. When these additional regiments have secured their full complements of 1,200 each, and the accompanying hospital corps have been recruited, slightly more than 30,000 of the volunteers will have been called. This will leave some thing more than 4,000 yet available under a subsequent call, if the president sees fit to utilize the full army strength authorized by congress.

The order for recruiting the last four regiments will not be issued for some weeks. That this force actively will be called out, however, there is small doubt.

BLIZZARD SUED.

His Wife Wants a Divorce From Him—Sued to Be in Illinois.

Mrs. Cora Blizard today filed suit in the circuit court against her husband, George Blizard, for divorce and the custody of their child. They separated some time ago, and day before yesterday he went to their home near Massena and abducted the child, and is supposed to have come to the city with it. He was yesterday warranted before Justice Winchester on a charge of carrying concealed a pistol, and officers went to Illinois, where he is supposed to have gone, in search of him, but he could not be found.

They tried to capture him, however, as his wife is very anxious to get possession of the child again.

THE OHIO FALLS.

Louisville Man Has a Device For Utilizing the Water Power.

Louisville Times: "The immense water power in the Falls is at last to be utilized. A Louisville man has invented a simple contrivance whereby the 200,000 horse power now going to waste can be harnessed and used for operating electric or other motors. Letters patent have been taken out by the inventor, and a number of capitalists who have thoroughly examined a model of the contrivance are confident that it will do all that is claimed for it. The inventor consists of a siphon combined with a turbine. It is so simple that it is a wonder no one thought of it before. Dr. Hugh W. Graham, of 117 East Jacob street, is the inventor, and he secured his patent only a few months ago. Speaking of power of the water passing over the Ohio Falls and conceived the idea of a combination of the turbine and siphon to be operated around government dams and large ledge water ways. After a careful study of physics I applied for and received letters patent for the combination, and after further investigation among civil engineers and parties of practical experience it was pronounced practicable, these opinions being augmented by the thorough working of a model in which a turbine was actuated under a twenty-five-foot head in the crown of a fifteen foot siphon. The advantages of this mode of gathering power are cheapness of construction, ease of control and convenience in delivering power to desirable points. Louisville has an immense water power passing in front of her (estimated at 200,000 horse-power), and if a goodly proportion of this power can be harnessed it is easy to see the advantages to and all the Falls cities will derive from a cheap power in the promotion of many manufacturing enterprises."

The inventor has a model working in this city now and all who have seen it pronounce it a success.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 19, 1919

If it is the purpose of the Goebel managers to attempt to fool the people they should keep Judge Goebel right at the helm. His speech here was the work of a persuasive and most artful dodger and as susceptible to two constructions as it was to one. The talk struck Judge Redwine as one of the shrewdest he had heard in the canvass and he was free to say so, going so far as to say it was a better speech than any he had ever heard Goebel make. It is clear the judge had not one idea in his mind for the speech left only one idea in any man's mind—and that was that the speech was marked for the little it contained calculated to prove a drawback or to set the people to any deep thinking, and therefore was not injurious if it did no good.

The Lexington convention laid claim to the roster as the Democratic emblem. Will the body make a fight to justify its claim? If this is to be the game let time be called without delay. The people must have excitement, you know.

The inhibition of the editorial sentiment of the Louisville Courier-Journal by the correspondents and news writers of that journal indicate a wonderful readiness of assimilation, or the editing of contributions to an alarming degree at the desk of Marcellus Henry.

Judge Redwine wherever he goes continues to make his bombastic "I did it and now what are you going to do about it" speeches. He is clearly the boldest buccaneer in the Goebel gang and thinks he is all the push. The people who see and hear the judge are afterward better able to appreciate the daring with which he ruled and ruled the Louisville convention.

"For God's sake vote the regular Democratic tickets," screams the leather lungs of Jo Blackburn and steel bellows of W. J. Bryan against the same refrain. It means nothing but "For God's sake don't desert me."

The ticket is all right, but the platform is as wrong as that at Chicago in '96, says Henry Watterson, but he doesn't mean for that assertion to apply to the Chicago school book bill and Courier-Journal stall there might be in it, but to all the endorsement of Bryan and Blackburn it means what it says and yet those flatulent bladders are pleased till they lose sight of all but one thing and Marcellus Henry laughs and whoops at the readiness with which his bait is taken and the cork pulled under.

Is it true that the Goebels can and will be allowed to steal the election in November?

Popeart's testimony in the Dreyfus case proves there is still some honor left in the army of France. The fact has not yet been told relative to this intrigue and now that the ice has been broken the facts may all come out. The rascals have either failed or are going to leave cover and a place of safety.

It is idle to talk or think about either faction of the Democratic party withdrawing from the contest for the sake of harmony. The Goebels think they have might on their side and the Brownites know they have right on theirs, and thus the matter stands now and will stand up to the election in November. The proposition will go for naught.

It sounds like a canard, but it is quite possible that the anti-expansionists may place a presidential ticket in the field next year. Pools of break in where men fear to tread.

Bryan warns Democrats not to rely too strongly on the anti-trust issue. This is where he is wise. Many of the trusts are collapsing through the operation of natural causes. Others of them will break up before the national conventions meet next year. Moreover, the real enemies of the trusts are the Republicans, and not the Democrats.

A more vigorous and honest declaration against the trusts will be formulated by the Republican convention in 1920 than the Democrats can frame. No votes on the trust issue can be made by the Democratic party.

Only 11 per cent of the colored population of Cuba is said to be able to read and write. The coming census will be especially valuable in showing the degree of illiteracy in the island.

The Newsput up the Brown ticket yesterday but said many a word. A cause worth supporting and in worth shouting for. The News has the privilege to get up on its hind legs and make the welkin ring and should not hesitate to do so for its cause is a good one.

The Goebels are about to have completion fits about the News' course in the present gubernatorial contest. The Sun would like to know just for the fun of it, how many of these same howling Goebels were giving the News any kind of a healthy support—not getting more than value received for their money. The fellow who turns the grind stone has some right to say how the axe should be sharpened, but the fellow who only stands by and furnishes the wind work has only a shut up coming to him, for talk is cheap and supports not even a politician.

Judge Redwine's appearance on the rostrum in Goebel's behalf is proving to the Democrats like a red rag to a bull. They are roaring mad and some are calling on the party leaders to send the judge home. The Louisville News is content in this demand and says the judge as a squaker is an insult to the Democrats whatever he appears, and especially to the Hamiltons in the late canvass. There are other papers making a similar but not so bold a demand, the Madisonville Hustler for instance. Judge Redwine is no more an insult to Democracy, or should not be, than the man or men who accepted the swag of the convention in which he was only a tool. That, Judge, lie to the moon and privacy. The party which used you is now preparing to make you a scapegoat, but their indignation comes too late.

There is a steady democratic yell going up all over the state for town for governor. The old war horse is undoubtedly in the saddle, booted and spurred. The yell is a good one, for the political wilderness into which the Goebels lead or drove them, and they see the star of hope arising with the coming November shades. And the yell will grow louder as the election approaches.

What is said to be Goebel's May field speech is being sent all over the state as a patented matter for the various papers which will accept and publish the speech. Tallented gentlemen who heard the speech say it was never made as printed, and there is a suspicion growing that it was a drilled speech put in the hands and in the mouth of the doers' representative and that it was put in too large a pill when he started in trying to shove it down the people's throat. The headlines of the speech are its greatest fake.

IS BRYAN TRIMMING?

Louisville Commercial: "Mr. Bryan has followed his alliance with the Goebel Democracy in Kentucky with such adherence to Democratic association to hold a state convention at Des Moines, Iowa, as will startle that element of the Democratic party which had come to believe that with the establishment of the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16-to-1 the work of the party will have been finished. 'If new issues arise,' said Bryan at Des Moines, 'which seem to be of more importance than those of the past, it is proper for the party to give prominence to them and even to use them as the basis for a campaign.' 'Clearly, here is honest direct from headquarters. He is apt to say by the chief apostle of the cause of bad money and plenty of it. No wonder Coker is for Bryan. Why may not even Coker be Bryanized if Bryan is satisfied to have the 16-to-1 ratio sent to the rear, as the Iowa Democrats have just done with his publicly expressed approval? The wily Nebraskan is setting his sails to catch the breeze from every quarter. He desires nothing so desperately as he covets another race for the presidency. Any old platform will do."

The ticket is all right, but the platform is as wrong as that at Chicago in '96, says Henry Watterson, but he doesn't mean for that assertion to apply to the Chicago school book bill and Courier-Journal stall there might be in it, but to all the endorsement of Bryan and Blackburn it means what it says and yet those flatulent bladders are pleased till they lose sight of all but one thing and Marcellus Henry laughs and whoops at the readiness with which his bait is taken and the cork pulled under.

THE GOEBEL PARDON.

The Facts Concerning the Case Against Goebel Set Forth.

Louisville Post: "Mr. Goebel killed Sanford one day in April, 1895. The tragedy started the state.

"The provocation Goebel had given few persons knew anything about. The infamous article which Goebel had inserted in the Covington Ledger was too filthy for publication, and all that was known was that in a street encounter Goebel had killed Sanford.

"Goebel never faced a jury. At the examining trial the judge dismissed the prisoner.

"Later an effort was made to bring the matter to the attention of the grand jury, but it was dropped. It was said subsequently that Gov. Brown had said to Mr. Goebel that in case of an indictment he would pardon him. It was thought natural enough that the governor, who at that time was friendly with Mr. Goebel, who was a senator, and whom he believed to have acted in self-defense, should say confidentially to the senator that the case appeared to be one of self defense and would call, in extremity, for executive clemency.

"However this might be, such an assurance could be made only in the strictest confidence, which certainly the beneficiary could not betray.

Yet the fact soon became generally known throughout the state. Now the Goebel newspapers are publishing it as a campaign document. For instance, the Richmond Clinch says: "It is during Governor John Young Brown's administration that William Goebel killed John Sanford, and it is said Brown offered Goebel a pardon before trial, but it was refused. Mr. Goebel claiming he had committed no crime, and in this he was upheld by the courts, being triumphantly acquitted."

As a matter of fact there was no trial, no indictment. The examining judge dismissed Mr. Goebel. This was no "triumph."

Mr. Goebel stands before the people of Kentucky accused of writing an infamous article that led to bloodshed. Technically he had a case of self defense, but morally he has not been acquitted, for he acknowledged he wrote the article which provoked the difficulty.

The Dispatch this morning denies this statement of a promised pardon, but the Dispatch is in error. The statement has been widely circulated for years past, and it has never been denied by Gov. Brown. The pardon was not offered "before acquittal." If the Evening Post is right in its recollection, but after the dismissal at the examining trial, when the matter was before the grand jury, there may be some difference of opinion as to how far a pardon is an assurance given in confidence to an accused man can be compared to the public, but as a matter of fact, the assurance was given, and Gov. Brown has always admitted it when questioned.

Names Leading Issues. With Anti-Imperialism and Anti-Trust, Says Bryan, 'We Can Win'.

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 19.—"We lost the last campaign because we lacked the foreign vote. They did not understand the silver issue but they will understand what a standing army means. They know what expansion and imperialism means, and will vote against them. They will understand these things, perhaps better than many native Americans, and on such issues we can win."
